Former Directors Defend Peace Corps' Independence

“The independence of the Peace Corps has been carefully protected by Presidents, Secretaries of State, and Congress for the past 58 years ... Part of the reason (for this independence) is to ensure that Volunteers would not be confused with those carrying out day-to-day U.S. foreign and security policies. Turning the Peace Corps into a bureau of the Department of State would void that independence.”

NPCA Statement: May 31, 2020

“Fundamentally, those of us in the Peace Corps community embark on service as Volunteers to promote world peace and understanding. This is our world, right here. One where empathy and justice must guide us — as we head out into the world, as we bring it back home. Our commitment to that doesn’t stop at the border.”

NPCA Statement: June 18, 2020

“We Stand Against Racial Injustice and affirm our commitment to empathy and justice — around the world, and here at home. Yet, in the midst of national unrest ignited by systemic injustice, a vision of unity and vibrance is not enough. We must take more concrete steps to ensure a diverse, equitable, and inclusive culture for all RPCVs and members of our community.”

“Our increasingly interconnected world demands global solidarity, not charity, to solve global problems that transcend national borders like the specter of war, terrorism, racism, climate change, and pandemics like COVID-19 ... More than any other group of Americans, I believe that Returned Peace Corps Volunteers can instill a sense of a more enlightened America as part of, not apart from, a more just, peaceful and prosperous world.”

— Kul Chandra Gautam, Nepal
2018 Recipient of Harris Wofford Global Citizen Award

Big Ideas

- Foster two-way exchange with host countries.
- Create customized assignments to better match needs with Volunteer skills.

- Prioritize resources, support, and training to Goals Two and Three. RPCVs say that's where most impact is.
- Revamp medical services to lengthen health coverage post-service.
- Expand federal noncompetitive eligibility (NCE) to three years for RPCVs.
- Peace Corps must enable NPCA and affiliate groups to connect with Volunteers to enhance Third Goal impact.
- Show that we're the Peace Corps we all wanted to join. It's more needed than ever.
- Be intentional in creating systems to address mental health, racial injustices, and socioeconomic challenges for BIPOC Volunteers during and after service.
- Collect and publicly report on Peace Corps' comprehensive impact.
- Seize the moment: We have six to nine months to put forth a new vision for Peace Corps.
- Peace Corps should leverage strategic partnerships with the private sector

GOAL: Peace Corps Funding Sustained

100,000 Messages to Congress

In 2020, we launched an initiative to mobilize the Peace Corps community to send 100,000 messages to Congress to ensure future legislation addresses the needs of evacuated Volunteers.

Beyond that, an ongoing mobilization is needed to remind our lawmakers and our fellow citizens that Peace Corps remains open and is preparing to redeploy as soon as possible.
